

External Affairs Report

Well it has been a busy couple of months. The community awareness committee project is coming along very well. This year we are building raised planters at the OASIS center in Tulsa and building window boxes for the outdoor area at the new Daily Living Center here in OKC. Professor Bryce is having her first year students assist with the project. We are very excited about the impact these projects will have at these facilities and the facilities are happy to have us helping. I think this is another area where OT is a great partner.
